Always Lower!

WASHINGTON, SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 2, 1897.

Hay Ball Silppers-We furnish most of them-any color not in stock supplied on short notice at little extra cost.

A SIX DAYS' MAY SHOE FEAST

Begins at 8 tomorrow-it will probably be one of the most attractive Shoe events Washington has ever known.

We shall place on sale tomorrow the latest and most approved styles of summer footwear, many for less than similar kinds can be bought for today by dealers. This is the result of ordering in large quantities during the dull months of last winter.

Besides we shall include several lines of seasonable Shoes, of which we have too many—these to be sold at a reduction from our always lowest prices, as we are badly in need of the room.

All Efforts for Executive Intervention Were in Vain.

EDITOR KOHLSAAT'S MALICE

Influence Against a Pardon for His Business Rival - The Boldness of Dunlop's Paper Offended Powerful Influences.

Joseph R. Dunlop, editor of the Chicago Dispatch, who was found guilty in December, 1895, of the charge of sending obscene matter through the United States mails, was taken into custody at Chicago yesterday by United States Marshal Arneid and was conveyed to Jeliet penitentiary where he will serve his sentence of two years' imprisonment. He must also pay n fine of $2,000.

After the conviction of Editor Dunlop in the Federal court at Chicago his attorthe Federal court at Chicago his attor-neys appealed through all the courts of ap-pellate jurisdiction until the finding of the court of original jurisdiction was con-firmed by the Supreme Court of the United States. Strong efforts have been made by the friends of Editor Duniop, and among these friends are many men of means and power, to have the Executive intervene and suspend the sentence of imprisonment, but without avail.

Several of the leading newspaper men of Chicago tesought President Cleveland to extend executive clemency to the con-victed man, and failing in this attempt, the effort was renewed soon after the in-duction into office of President McKinley. decision into effice of President McKinley. It is said by some of the partisans of Dunlop that the pressure which was brought to bear on President McKinley would probably have prevailed, but for the hostility of Editor Konhaat, of Chicago, a professional foe to the convicted man. Kohlsnat came to Washington, it is said, expressly to defeat the possibility of a pardon for bunlop. Unfettered Dunlop would have grated harshly on the moral nerves of Kohlsaat. It is naintgined that Kohlsaat traveled 1,600 miles, and incurred ususual expense just to defent an act of lenity. Kotlsaat was the treasurer of what, in the days of the late campaign, was styled the "McKinley Syndicate." He was also a subscriber to the fund which made Mr. McKinley President. One of Kohlsant's colleagues in the syndicate was Bellamy Storer, recently appointed by President McKinley nister of the United States to Pelgium Mr. McKinley feels, it is said by Dunlop' friends, the obligations under which he rests to Editor Kohlsaat, Kohlsaat pulled his pull, and as stated, Dunlop has been sent away to prison.

Editor Dunlop has been a quarter of a century in the newspaper business in Chicago. He was for ten years employed on the Chicago Times, and at the time of its collapse was the managing editor of that paper. He was once the city editor of the Inter-Ocean and president of the Chicago Press Club. His wife was Eureka Story, widow of Wilbur Story. Five years ago he began the publication of the Chicago Dispatch. The paper made a fortune for its projector. It aroused the antagonism of powerful influences in Chicago by the beloness of the stand it took on many important questions.

The Postoffice Department was invoked by the interests which Dunlop had offended. and the inspectors' division was set quietly to work on advertisements alleged to be violative of the postal laws. They col-lected evidence and intercepted certain copies of the newspaper while in transit through the mails. About the first intimation Editor Dunlon had that the sleaths of the Postoffice Department were after him was when he was placed under arrest on the charge already stated.

In his defense the prisoner maintained that the Postoffice authorities should have first notified him that he violated the law that he should have been warned by the department. The department in response to this plea, took the position that its duty is not to warn those who violate the law, but to apprehend them.

Scon after the arrest of Editor Dunlop the alleged offensive advertisements in the Despatch were expunged by the management of that paper.

President McKinley had the application for executive elemency in behalf of Dunlop onder advisement for two months. sant, the President notified Attorney Genand that the law would take its course

MR. AIKEN'S REMOVAL. Said to Be for Reasons Other Tha

Secretary Gage has requested the resignation of Supervising Architect William M Alken, of the Treasury Department. It is alleged by Department officials that politics has nothing to do with the enforced resignation of Mr. Alken, whose office is in the civil service list. It is known, however, that Senators Platt, Quay, and Proctor have during the last three or four weeks exerted their united influence with the Administration to have this office taken from the divi service list, and now that Mr. Alken is to be removed, the impression prevails that they have won their fight, or, at least, will control the appointment of Mr. Aiken's The supervisor's office has for more than week been under investigation, and the officials say that It was the result of this investigation that led to the request for Mr. Aiken's resignation..

"Adonis" Dixey Attached.

New York, May 1.—An attachment was issued today against Heary E. Dixey, the actor, for failure to appear for examination in supplementary proceedings. Dixey was cited three times to appear to answer to the complaint of a local furniture dealer, who alleged that the actor bought $763 worth of furniture, for which he has not as yet paid a cent. Dixey's counsel promised to have the actor in court today, but failed for the third time, and the attachment was placed in the sherift's hands for the person of Dixey, who will be arrested wherever tund. rested wherever found.
